ORANGE TREE CLUB

One feature of the Brazilian Grand Prix since some years is the Orange Tree Club, named after a long-extinct tree that stood guard over one of the most difficult corners of this classic racing circuit in the early fifties.

The ORANGE TREE CLUB is situated at one of the most difficult corners of the Interlagos circuit. This facility has become very popular with serious racing fans who like to see action from a close quarter.

The ORANGE TREE CLUB offers the following facilities:

- Separate passes for each day of the event
- Pit Lane visit on Friday afternoon
- Free Sandwich bar
- Electronic admission system, full security, friendly staff
- Timing monitors

Price: Individual admission for 3 days US$ 2.315,-
